2. RECENT MANAGERIAL EXPERIENCE

Establishment Director, Southeast Asia Centre of Asia-Pacific Excellence, 2017-18
Scope of role:

- Strategic and operational responsibility for establishment of a new Southeast Asia Centre of Asia-Pacific Excellence (SEA CAPE)—one of three new centres funded by the New Zealand Government to enhance engagement by businesses and young people with the Asia-Pacific region.

Key achievements and activities:

- Established structures, procedures and first programmes for the SEA CAPE.
- Recruited staff members for the SEA CAPE.
- Championed and promoted the SEA CAPE within New Zealand and internationally.
- Drafted establishment plan for the Latin American Centre of Asia-Pacific Excellence

Pro Vice-Chancellor (International Engagement) and Professor, Victoria University of Wellington, 2015-2016 (retired from this role in July 2016)
Pro Vice-Chancellor (International) and Professor, Victoria University of Wellington, 2006-2015
Scope of role:

- Senior leadership responsibility for VUW's international strategies and activities, and member of the University's Senior Leadership Team.
- Management responsibility (until March 2015) for Victoria International (27 staff members) and Foundation Studies (10 staff members), with associated oversight of an annual budget of NZ$11 million.
- Management oversight of the VUW joint programme campus in Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam in partnership with the University of Economics-Ho Chi Minh City.
- Membership of University boards and committees, including chairing Advisory Boards for the Centre for Strategic Studies and the Victoria Institute for Links with Latin America.
- VUW representative on external national and international boards, including the Committee on International Policy of Universities New Zealand, the Advisory Board of the New Zealand Center at Peking University, the Greater Mekong Subregion Tertiary Education

Trust and the Advisory Board of the New Zealand Universities Accounting Pathway Programme in Malaysia (as Chair).

- General academic responsibilities as a Professor to the extent permitted by the senior leadership demands of the role.

Key achievements and activities:

- Drafting, championing and implementing the University's Internationalisation Strategy, 2008-2015.
- Introduction and oversight of the Victoria International Leadership Programme—an award-winning internationalisation initiative which continues to attract over 1500 registrants annually.
- Expansion of Victoria's student exchange programme to offer students the widest range of partner university options in New Zealand, with an increase of 300% in annual outgoing student numbers from 2006 to 2016.
- Leadership of a highly successful international team which received excellence awards from Education New Zealand in all categories of awards offered (Student Support, International Marketing and Innovation in International Programming).
- Successful leadership in 2012 of negotiations to set up the New Zealand Universities Accounting Pathway Programme in Malaysia—a programme involving three New Zealand universities and a Malaysian partner to provide partial in-country training (using VUW curricula and moderators) for students who then transfer to New Zealand for completion of accounting degrees. This multi-million-dollar programme has delivered annual cohorts of approximately 150 Malaysian students to the New Zealand consortium universities since 2015.
- Conceptualisation of Victoria's "Understanding Southeast Asia" field course and securing of funding for two successive years (2014 and 2015) of $325,000 from the Prime Minister's Scholarships for Asia and from Education New Zealand. This funding enabled two cohorts of 25 New Zealand students (mainly from Victoria but also from other universities) to spend 5 weeks of intensive study in seven Southeast Asian countries.
- A sustained record of public contribution nationally, expressed primarily through service to the New Zealand Institute of International Affairs (since 2009 as National Vice-President).
- A sustained record of public contribution internationally, as exemplified by medals for services to the Vietnamese and Polish Governments and by invited membership of the International Advisory Board of the Universidad de Monterrey in Mexico.
- Recognised expertise in the internationalisation of universities, as illustrated by invited presentations to conferences organised by the British Council, the European Association for International Education, NAFSA, the Indonesian Directorate General of Higher Education, the Asia Pacific Association for International Education, the Australian International Education Association, Education New Zealand, the New Zealand Ministry of Education and the ISANA International Education Association.
- A successful record of international relationship development and management. Examples include: negotiation of funding from the Vietnamese and New Zealand governments to deliver VUW's Master of International Relations through the Diplomatic Academy of Vietnam (DAV) to Vietnamese officials using mixed-mode delivery teaching in Hanoi and Wellington; securing of a PhD Scholarship funding agreement with the Directorate of Higher Education of Indonesia (DIKTI); and the negotiation of an agreement which enabled VUW to become the only New Zealand university to have a double Masters' degree with Peking University (Master of International Relations/Master of Public Policy).
- Continued academic activities, including supervision of PhD and Masters' students, assessment of theses, occasional guest lectures on New Zealand foreign policy, occasional scholarly articles and book reviews, refereeing of scholarly articles submitted to international journals and 5 seminar presentations annually on global interdependence in the Victoria International Leadership Programme.
